

Americans Go Native

Africa is what's happening, baby. From the United Nations to the art galleries, from interior design to fashion, Africa is here. And African influence is nowhere more apparent than in this year's most exciting clothing.

Free-flowing African-influenced dresses are appearing everywhere. Italian couturiers, both in Florence and Rome, showed dresses inspired by African design. Recently, Marc Bohan of the House of Dior designed a whole line influenced by "L'Art Negre", an African art exhibit in Paris. He utilized native colors, masks, jewelry and even African nuts and woods for accents.

One of the leading American innovators is Seattle-born artist Avia Ward. For five years Avia lived and worked in French Guinea, Western Africa. There, she became fascinated by the unusually designed and colored native fabrics, and adapted their styles for western tastes.

One fabric, Kente cloth, woven by the Ashanti tribe weavers of Ghana, became a particular favorite of hers. Each design motif has a meaning: "One man cannot rule" . . . "In unity there is strength" . . . "No one knows the end of the world."

Avia left Conakry, French Guinea, in 1960 when the political situation became unsettled. She managed to take with her bolts of authentic, hand-woven and hand-blocked fabrics. Now settled in New York's Greenwich Village, her unique, flowing adaptations are being worn by fashion-conscious women from coast to coast.

They, like Avia, believe there is "one world of fashion"—and this year the focus is on Africa.

Hostess gown of Kente cloth is this season's newest look.

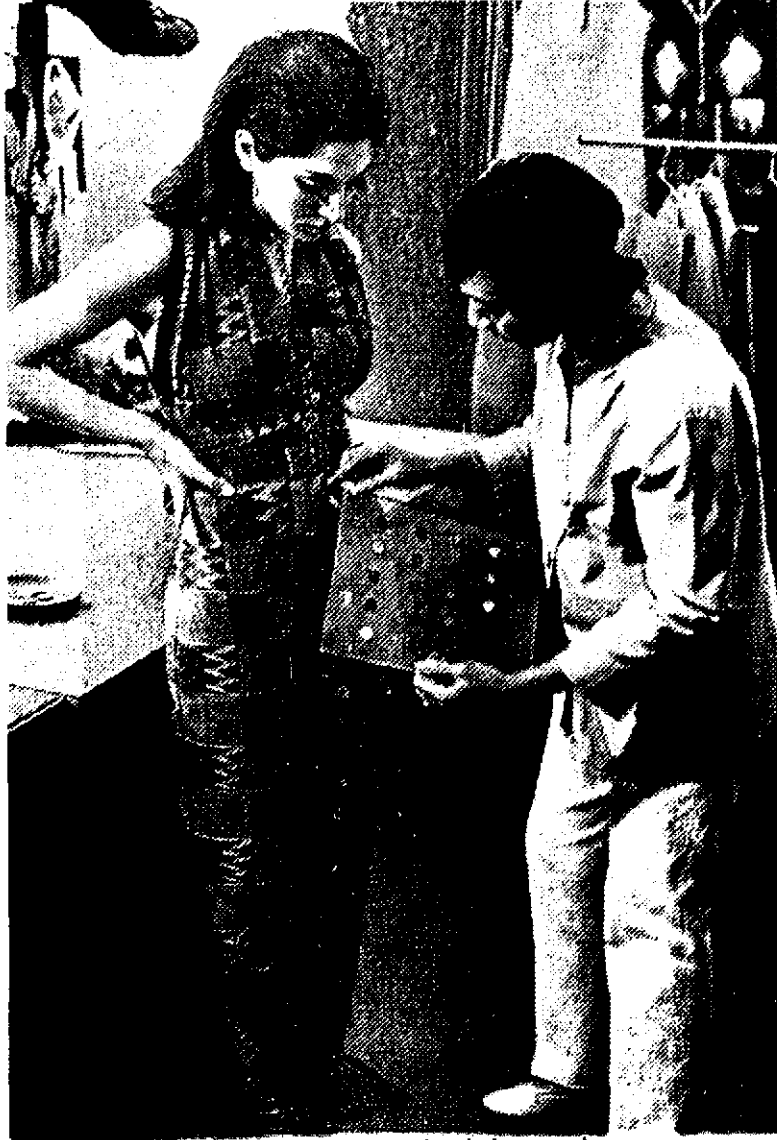

Unusual patterns and colors have made African-influenced at-home wear popular.

Scovill snaps are practical dress closures.

Bob Thomas at the Movies

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer
HOLLYWOOD AP — This week the Motion Picture Academy gave official recognition to what American audiences have been discovering: that "A Man and a Woman" is a rare and original movie.

The French film won four Oscar nominations - for star Anouk Aimee, director Claude Lelouch, as best foreign language film and for the script. The film has buoyed the fortunes of its American releasing company, Allied Artists. Long runs have occurred in every city. San Francisco theater owner Irving Levin reports the movie in its 16th week did better business in a 365-seat house than when it opened in a 1,000 seat theater. Anouk Aimee - pronounced A'-nook Aimee - is now in Hollywood and is basking in the burst of fame that "A Man and a Woman" has brought her. She is a slender, graceful beauty with a profusion of chestnut hair parted in the middle.

"Isn't it amazing" she exclaimed in her flower-filled suite at the Beverly Hills Hotel. "All my life I had a vision of what it would be like to be a star in Hollywood. Now it is happening to me, and it is exactly as I pictured it."

She has already been the recipient of an award-the Golden Globe as best actress in a drama. She and her husband Pierre Barouh, have been partaking of the local social scene, often in the company of their new friends, the Steve McQueens.

Miss Aimee's joy with her experience here was tempered somewhat by a painful accident she was pinned against a garage wall when her husband lost control of a station wagon. But she was only bruised and is recovering in a wheelchair.

The French couple spent a few quiet moments beside the hotel pool, and they discussed the amazing success of "A Man and a Woman." It is a simple tale, beautifully told with impressionistic flashbacks, of a man and a woman who are drawn together by the fact that their children attended the same boarding school in the south of France.

"We made the film in a month," said Miss Aimee, "shooting on Saturdays and sometimes Sundays, too. It was all done very informally; that's the way Lelouch likes to work."

"The crew was very small," added Barouh. "In fact, we toured all over France in just two cars. Lelouch is his own cameraman, and he needed only a handful of people to help him with the filming."

The entire film was produced for $125,000, making it one of the most impressive film investments in recent times. Its take in the United States alone will run into the millions.

STARLED STAR breezing down a modern street is far from the sound of music in Salzburg or a missionary's hut in Hawaii, but she's still unmistakable as one of box office's biggest—Julie Andrews, shown here doing a scene for her latest movie, "Thoroughly Modern Millie."

TIMELY QUOTES

Do you think President Johnson sits there and feels good about killing people? Civilians are mentioned. But do you think he feels good about killing North Vietnamese soldiers? They're human beings, too. . . . Do you know how much a man like President Johnson hurts inside with this war?
—Bill Moyers, former presidential press secretary.

Perfection

at 5

An angel's food cake may be a work of perfection.
An athlete may have a perfect golf swing. But, generally speaking, our lives are quite imperfect. About the most perfect thing one could ever find is a little girl just turned five.
"Be ye perfect as your Father in heaven is perfect."
That's a big order. No man has perfectly kept God's commandments...we all break them in thought and word and deed. Yet, the order stands — "perfection!" "Be perfect!"
Then, make perfection the constant aim of your life.
Be dissatisfied with your accomplishments and unremittingly and everlastingly strive toward the highest and the best which is found only in Jesus. "Be ye perfect!"
Traveling the perfect way one needs all the help he can muster.
We suggest regular church attendance as your greatest aid.

South Advertises Trump Problem

By Oswald & James Jacoby
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Here is a hand from an important team match of some years back in which South played against the mathematical percentages to produce a 1,530 point swing in favor of his side.

East won the spade lead and returned the ten spot. South saw no reason to finesse the jack. His whole problem was going to be with the jack of hearts. Therefore he took the king of spades and led a trump to dummy's ace. Then he proceeded to think for a long time.

South noted that six clubs would make irrespective of the jack of hearts but he was pretty sure that the other South would also be in six hearts. He was also pretty sure that the other South would make the normal play of cashing a second high heart. This South was inclined to make the same play. It would not be criticized if it failed, whereas a second round finesse against the jack of hearts would be severely criticized if it cost the slam. This didn't worry South. He wanted to win.

South thought long enough so that he could be sure that East and West would both be aware of his problem. Then South called for dummy's six of diamonds. East played the queen! South was on lead with the ace and played a low heart and called for dummy's nine.

South's reason for taking the unusual finesse lay in East's play of the queen of diamonds. East was not inclined to make unsound vulnerable overcalls and South was pretty sure that East held the guarded queen of diamonds. He also thought that East would falsecard once South had made sure that East knew what South's problem was. Of course, South would have looked might silly if that queen of diamonds had really been a singleton and East had held the jack of hearts.

Lumberjacks Defeat the Bobcats

by LARRY DON WRIGHT
Star Sports Editor

The Warren Lumberjacks rose for an impressive 31-point scoring performance in the third quarter to walk off with an 86-78 win over the Hope Bobcats in what otherwise would have been a very close match at Warren last night.

It marked Hope's third consecutive 4AA loss and pulled their district won-lost record to an even 7-7 with two games still remaining. The loss also knocked the Cats out of all Chances (including mathematical) of getting to go the Class AA State Tournament next month.

The first half of action couldn't have been any tighter as the two teams were deadlocked both at the end of the initial quarter and at halftime.

Senior Stan Parris personally accounted for Hope's first 10 points as he went on to set the Bobcats pace with a night's total of 26 points. By the end of the first quarter the score was knotted at 20-all.

The Cats rose to a 5-points advantage through the first 4 minutes of play in the second quarter before seeing it fade away as intermission approached. The teams left the court at halftime with the score tied again, 37-37.

The tall Warren postman, Larry Schales, who led the Lumberjacks charge with 19 points in the first half alone, appeared at halftime to be the only thing standing between the Bobcats and victory.

Throughout the first half the Jacks hurt Hope underneath by getting the ball inside the Bobcat zone defense to Schales who hit with deadly accuracy from any point within 10-feet. The Cats seemed to have worked out a few of their first half problems, however, during halftime as they were able to curb Schales' activities somewhat during the remainder of the game.

However, if the Jacks couldn't score from the inside they found that they could from the outside. Therefore when Schales was covered another gunner, Lumberjack guard Jim Bryant went to work. Bryant connected for 20 points during the second half.

The fatal third quarter was run, run, all the way as the Bobcats chased Warren up and down the court. However, they were unable to keep the pace and the Lumberjacks built a strong 15-point lead through the single quarter. By the end of the third period it stood, Warren 68-Hope 53.

This was stretched to a 18-point command at one time during the early moments of the final quarter before the Cats began their last chance comeback. A rally did begin gradually to materialize midway through the period and with just under 3 minutes remaining to play the Bobcats had whittled the Lumberjack lead to 76-71.

However, that's as close as it got, as the Warren stall of defense was effective in keeping the ball away from the Bobcats in the waning moments.

Parris led Hope with 28 points followed by three other Bobcats who hit in double digits. They were Stan Reyenga with 18, Danny Griffith with 17, and Larry East 10. Luther Shaw had 4 and Mike Westbrook had 1.

Schales led Warren in scoring with 31 points but had a great deal of support from Bryant who added 29 points.

Hope won the B-team game by the score of 57-50. The two teams will see action again tonight at home against the Malvern Leopards in Jones Field House. The "B" game will begin at 6:30.

QUICK QUIZ

Q—What is the origin of the word "ghetto"?

A—This is a word of disputed origin, but it probably comes from a district in the city of Venice, Italy, where Jewish people lived in segregation about 1516. It was located near an iron foundry called the "getto," Italian word for casting.

Q—Who wrote under the pseudonym of "Captain Clutterbuck"?

A—Sir Walter Scott.

Q—How many U. S. presidents were the sons of clergymen?

A—Three—Chester Arthur, Grover Cleveland and Woodrow Wilson.

Trot Horse Bettors Bring Cold Cash on Hot Tips

THE RIDERLESS HORSE is Beautiful Melody (8) who threw driver Lucien Fontaine during a race at Yonkers Raceway, Yonkers, N.Y. Gene Mattucci, guiding, Silver Dawn Truax (2) seems a bit puzzled by the situation.

By ROGER DOUGHTY

Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

YONKERS, N.Y.—(NEA)—Snow fell from the sky like king-sized confetti as winter winds, chilled by a temperature in the teens, chased commuters home early and knocked over pedestrians like clay pigeons in a shooting gallery.

Caught in the full fury of the storm, a special policeman at Yonkers Raceway peered through a psoephole and spotted the frozen figure of a man clutching the price of admission in an ice-covered glove.

"Go away," said the cop, "we're closed."

"That," replied the would-be better, "is like finding the hospital closed when you need a transfusion."

A typical reaction at Yonkers, where neither rain, snow nor terrifying temperatures keep customers away from the Jan. 3-March 3 meet.

"In a way," says one Yonkers regular, "it's like belonging to the polar bear club. I take pride in coming out here and freezing to death while I go broke. If nothing else, it beats television. What are the odds on winning a bundle betting on The Man From U.N.C.L.E.?"

The better comes for a number of reasons, including one man who says he wants to do everything in his power to provide the state with extra revenue, but the drivers show up for the same reason millions of Americans head for the office every morning.

"I work here," says one horseman. "What choice have I got?"

Since 1950 the Yonkers oval has missed only three nights of action because of snow. Even Walter O'Malley, who refuses to let it rain in Los Angeles when his Dodgers have a game scheduled, would be proud of that batting average. The smallest crowd of this year's meeting was 8,758 the night after a blizzard closed down the raceway and most of the metropolitan New York area the day before. A crew of 50 men worked in three shifts to reopen the raceway.

"That," says driver Wendell Wathen Jr., a 17-year veteran of the trotting wars, "was a pretty cool night. But I put on my arctic suit with my rain suit on top of that and I was almost too hot."

Cool cash is enough to warm anyone's heart and Wathen and his fellow drivers don't mind putting up with the Ice Age when there's a pot of gold at the end of a 2-06 mile.

"There was a time," Wathen recalls, "when a driver would work six months of the year and that was it. Now we go all year long and a lot of the happy here. But my choice is no reflection on coach Bubas or Duke. He's a tremendous coach and a man. I respect him very much, and I think he respects me."

The 1963-64 basketball season is just a memory now for Larry Miller.

There isn't time to think about the past because the future is so promising.

L&M (Lewis and Miller), as they are known up and down Tobacco Road, are thinking about another big night—March 25 in Louisville's Freedom Hall.

Senate Does Pass Bill on Constitution

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The Arkansas Senate considered nearly 30 pieces of legislation during a six-hour session Friday, while the House took off early to attend the horse races at Oaklawn Park in Hot Springs.

Most of the Senate action was on routine measure, but it did adopt its first proposed constitutional amendment — one to remove age limitations on public school students, thus clearing the way for school districts to initiate kindergarten and adult education programs.

Before the House adjourned, a bill was introduced that would create a five-member Highway Management Study and Audit Commission to conduct the first independent audit of the state Highway Department since passage of the Mark-Blackwell Amendment in 1952.

Sens. Joe Ford of Little Rock and Clarence Bell of Parkin introduced the resolution proposing the constitutional amendment. Approved 32-1, it now goes to the House.

Sen. Melvin T. Chambers of Magnolia, who cast the one dissenting vote, said he didn't think teachers should be baby sitters.

The resolution was recommended unanimously Thursday by a joint Senate-House committee set up to avoid the situation that developed in 1965, when the two houses disagreed over which proposed amendments to submit to voters in the 1966 general election and wound up with none on the ballot. A similar resolution was involved in that incident.

Jury Being Picked in Speck Case

PEORIA, Ill. (AP) — "We all agree that eight lovely girls were murdered. The issue in this case is: Who did it?"

Gerald W. Getty, the defender of Richard Speck, spoke these words Wednesday during the third day of Speck's trial as he questioned 33 veniremen.

"Does the state have evidence enough to prove this defendant did it?" Getty asked.

Speck, 25, who sat seemingly impassive during the proceedings, is accused of slaying eight student nurses July 14 in Chicago.

Getty's statements could be construed as an argument against reports that Speck's defense will be based on an insanity plea. Getty has given no indication what the defense will be. Getty and William Martin, assistant state's attorney, turned down a panel of four jurors on five occasions Wednesday. Each time a fourth was selected, a previously accepted panel member was challenged by one of the counsels, leaving only three.

This action prevented the swearing of the first panel. Under Illinois law twelve jurors are selected in panels of four each plus a panel of two as alternates.

Of the 160 challenges allowed each counsel — 20 for each of the eight murder indictments being tried simultaneously — the prosecution has used 16, the defense four.

Many of the state's challenges were directed toward prospective women jurors, while the defense appeared to disfavor male veniremen.

In Springfield Wednesday, the Illinois House rejected a proposal that a House-Senate committee investigate the restrictions imposed on news coverage of the trial by Judge Herbert C. Paschen.

The proposal was made by several House Republicans.

At the opening of court Wednesday, Judge Paschen revised some of the guidelines for newsmen to allow publication of jurors' names and to permit newsmen to purchase transcripts of the proceedings, both after the jury is sworn.

Judge Paschen also said he would consider requests from both counsels to cancel scheduled half-day Saturday sessions.

Clubs Plan to Defy Raids by Police

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Sen. Q. Byrum Hurst of Hot Springs said Thursday he would not hesitate to use an injunction petition he already has drawn up to protect Hot Springs private clubs from State Police gambling raids.

Hurst said legally chartered private clubs have the same constitutional protection as do private homes.

He said he still had an unused injunction petition which Orval Faubus threatened two years ago to have the State Police raid private clubs in Garland County.

Faubus "backed off" after the legal ramifications were explained to him, Hurst said. This time, he added, the petition may have to be filed.

Hurst said as he understood the State Supreme Court and Atty. Gen. Joe Purcell's rulings, State Police must have search warrants before they can enter the premises of any private club.

"They have to get the search warrants in the county in which the clubs are located," Hurst said.

"If there are attempts to override the laws," Hurst said, "we will seek the proper orders restraining the State Police from unlawfully entering and from the destruction of private property until the matter could be heard in the proper court."

Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller revealed this week that the State Police had compiled information on open gambling in 25 counties. At the time, however, the governor named only Garland and Pulaski Counties.

Hurst said he didn't know whether there was gambling going on in the private clubs. He said, however, there could be no "open gambling" as Gov. Rockefeller said if the operations were conducted in private.

Rockefeller said Thursday letters had been mailed to law enforcement authorities in the 25 counties advising them to have the gambling places closed down or that he would do it for them with State Police.

501 Jehovah Witnesses Here

Some 501 listeners heard the address of welcome, "Supply to Your Faith Endurance," discussed by district Supervisor, Nicholas Kovalak Jr., at the opening session of the circuit convention of Jehovah's Witnesses being held at Fair Park Coliseum.

Kovalak stressed the need for each Christian to increase his ministerial activity and aid as many as possible to meet the moral issues of our times.

The conference continues all this weekend.

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union today bestowed the title of "Hero of Socialist Labor," its highest peacetime award, on Nobel Prize winner Mikhail A. Sholokhov and six other conservative writers. None of the leading younger liberal writers were honored.

Local Gallup-er Makes Hobby of People and She Likes Horses Too

BY MARY ANITA LASETER
Star Feature Writer

Not a week goes by that we don't read the results of a Gallup Poll. But who takes these polls? Let's be different and interview one who has taken polls for Dr. Gallup for about 20 years and has done it in our immediate area. Maybe she has called at your house.

We are speaking of Mrs. Leonard Bundy. She was contacted by mail about 1940 by company headquarters in Pennsylvania, and after agreement was reached, she took from 10 to 15 polls a year until the early 1960's. She stopped only after an accident made her physically unable to carry out the specific instructions given to each pollster.

The first rule was "Don't interview anyone in the presence of anyone else." There were different instructions for each poll. For instance, she might have been told to talk to an adult at the third house on the right after going two miles north of the city limits.

If it were an uninhabited area, perhaps she had to go several more miles before she reached "the third house on the right." But, then, the next time she may have been told to talk to a professional man in a city. It varied and never ceased to be interesting.

What kind of questions were asked? Each poll had from 20 to 40 questions of different types, but they nearly always included something about politics. Only two people refused an interview in all the years Mrs. Bundy took polls. One held a state job and the other was a professional man, and neither wanted to commit himself. As a rule, though, she got splendid co-operation. Some of those interviewed were farmers, tenants, renters, landowners, stockmen, lawyers, doctors, surgeons, ministers, doctors of divinity, laborers, housewives, midwives, nurses and musicians.

She had a little misunderstanding when she talked to one midwife and asked what she thought about labor unions. "I don't know about unions, just about labor, and I gotta go cause there's somebody having it now."

Mrs. Bundy has taken many different kinds of polls. The first was a government survey during the days of the WPA. Questions covered have ranged from "Do you think a Communist can go to Heaven?" to "What do you think of women's current hair fashions?" Besides the political opinion polls, she's had depth interviews in which she had to probe for answers and various market and product research surveys. In the latter group were questions about shoes, paints, cars, and food.

In 1957 Public Opinion Surveys Inc. of Princeton, N. J., compiled an interviewer's Yearbook in which personality sketches of its pollsters were printed. It included the following:

Mrs. Leonard Bundy is the Gallup-er in Hope, Arkansas. Full time she is a corsetiere. She belongs to the American Legion Auxiliary and the Methodist Sunday School Bible Class. Mrs. Bundy makes a hobby of people and horses (an interesting combination). To vacationers she recommends Hot Springs, where she spent her own vacation. The Ozarks in northern Arkansas are also notable, and she invites all of us to "come to Hope in August and eat watermelons and peaches. Hempstead County grows the largest melons in the world. Largest one was 195 pounds."

Operation to Render Cong Incapable

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States' 45,000-troop operation near Cambodia will bleed the Communists of any capability they may have had to attack Saigon, Pentagon sources predicted today.

The assault, biggest of the war, was described as a key effort in a campaign to "blot out" major enemy bases forming stepping stones from North Vietnam.

"We are punching holes in his pipeline, the series of bases from which the Viet Cong can move and resupply," an officer explained.

"This is doing more than setting them back. That would imply some hope. I don't believe there is any hope left," he said.

The horseshoe-shaped mantrap, called Junction City, was launched Wednesday in a 250-square mile area northwest of South Vietnam's capital city. It may be closing in on 10,000 Viet Cong and North Vietnamese, he said.

These include leaders of the Viet Cong's political arm, the National Liberation Front; two Viet Cong and one North Vietnamese regiment forming the Viet Cong 9th Division, and certain supporting elements.

Pentagon officials believe, however, many of the Communists may escape, as they have in previous operations, into Cambodia.

The first American paratroop drop of the war, involving 750 men, was designed to seal off the escape route while thousands of infantrymen and troops in mechanized units closed flanks and rammed in with an armored wedge.

Even if few prisoners are taken in the operation, U.S. planners hope to confiscate great amounts of intelligence material.

The key objective, however, is wiping out Communist jungle bases among which the enemy has been able to rotate, regrouping after American attacks, resupplying for new engagements.

According to an authoritative view, the concept of the current operation was laid out last December as part of an allied plan to prevent the Communists from ever laying siege to Saigon.

He said a pledge of support had been received from the American Association of University Professors, but did not specify whether it included a cash contribution. Many education organizations also are offering help, said the spokesman.

President Johnson Thursday approved the endorsement of CIA activities by a three-man panel he named to probe the situation after the secret financial link was made public.

Cuba to Host Latin Leftists

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Plans to intensify leftist activities throughout Latin America will be unfolded at the first conference of the Latin American Solidarity Organization, Havana Radio says.

Broadcasts monitored here Thursday night reported OLAS delegations from more than 27 countries will meet in Havana July 28 through August 5 to agree upon a "fearless strategy of struggle against Yankee imperialism in Latin America."

Conspiracy Investigation Fund Set Up

NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP) — A "conspiracy investigation" fund has been created by New Orleans businessmen to underwrite Dist. Atty. Jim Garrison's pledge to prove there was a conspiracy in the assassination of President John F. Kennedy.

"It would amount to a blank check that would pay the cost of the investigation for months and even years," one of the businessmen sponsors said. "We are prepared to back Jim Garrison all the way — five years if necessary."

Garrison said it might be months rather than weeks before arrests could be made. He also said he would go to banks, if necessary, to personally borrow money to finance the investigation.

While there have been a number of critics of the Warren report, Garrison is the first public official with power to investigate to say there was a conspiracy.

Convinced that Garrison is right and will produce results if his investigation is free of any money obstacles, various New Orleans businessmen pledged to privately finance the investigation.

The Associated Press learned that pledges have been made. The prime mover behind the fund raising is Joseph M. Rault Jr., president of Rault Petroleum Corp. of New Orleans.

Rault confirmed the fund's existence, but declined to give any dollar amount.

The unorthodox financing of an investigation by a public official came about partly as a result of newspaper disclosures that Garrison was conducting an investigation into the Kennedy assassination.

The New Orleans States-Item broke the story after discovering that the district attorney's office had spent about $8,000 in three months. Vouchers covering this amount described the use of travel funds for "special investigation."

Garrison said that by publishing the names of the cities to which his staff traveled, possible witnesses or suspects were alerted and that this impeded his investigation.

The solution, he said, was to find money that wouldn't have to be accounted for in public records.

"I am determined to see this through," Garrison said. "There is no question that there will be arrests, and there is no question there will be charges and convictions."

Two days after he made that statement, a free-lance pilot David W. Ferlie, a central figure in Garrison's probe, was found dead in bed. An artery in his brain had ruptured.

Garrison said on Wednesday the death was an apparent suicide. But on the basis of an autopsy, Coroner Nicholas Chetta later ruled out murder as a possible cause of death, leaving suicide, accidental death or natural death as possible causes.

Chetta said he saw no evidence of suicide other than an unsigned, undated note which described death as a "sweet prospect."

Swiss Expell a Soviet Official

BERN, Switzerland (AP) — A Soviet official of an international organization in Geneva has been expelled from Switzerland accused of bribery and attempted espionage, the Swiss government announced today.

The brief announcement did not name the official and gave no other information. Soviet officials refused to comment.

Step Up in Vietnam War Is Likely

WASHINGTON (AP) — Because of a tough North Vietnamese rejection of American peace feelers, the Vietnam war now seems more likely to be settled on the battlefield than at the conference table.

This pessimistic outlook for any peace talks at this time came Friday from U.S. officials who recalled the collapse of negotiation efforts made earlier this month.

On the more hopeful side, U.S. officials said the Soviets now appear to be interested in a peace settlement along lines of the 1954 and 1962 Geneva agreements on Southeast Asia. Washington might be willing to go along with that.

But the Kremlin apparently does not have enough influence on Hanoi leaders to change their stand, the officials said. They said Washington and Moscow therefore cannot, by dealing with each other, come up with a solution to the war.

The officials specifically referred to diplomatic probes during the Feb. 8-12 lunar new year cease-fire and the six-day bombing pause ordered by President Johnson.

Soviet premier Alexei N. Kosygin was visiting British Prime Minister Harold Wilson at the time. Resumption of the bombing of North Vietnam temporarily was held up pending a response to Kosygin from Hanoi.

Panama Has Recovered From Riots

PANAMA (AP) — Paralyzed after the bloody anti-American riots of 1964, Panama's economy may now have more than recovered; it's breaking records.

An air of confidence has gradually replaced uneasiness among businessmen, public officials and foreign investors.

"An economic boom was inevitable," says one diplomat. "All Panama needed was some political peace and quiet for a while."

Tourists and foreign businessmen pump the slot machines in the major hotels, now reporting 80 per cent average occupancy and at least modest profits.

The shops of Avenida Central report record sales of such lowly items as yard goods, radios, cameras and perfumes, the staples of their trade.

Construction permits approved last year rose by 50 per cent to a high of $22 million, much of it financed by returning capital frightened away by the threat of further violence three years ago.

American, Spanish and Colombian banks are opening new branches. An oil refinery is expanding. Factories are planned for textile, iron and steel, and cement. Agriculture has improved although most food is still imported.

An international magazine company, Time-Life, plans to publish Latin-American editions here. Panama will also be the site of an earth station in the communications satellite network.

In the past two years the gross national product increased by $100 million to a high of $870 million — divided unevenly among the population of 1.3 million.

President Marco A. Robles, a tough administrator elected in 1964, has announced a budget surplus for the second straight year because of income tax enforcement. Collections jumped 16 per cent last year to a high of $100 million.

Helped by $23 million in Alliance for Progress grants and loans in the past year, the Robles administration has launched programs against poverty and unemployment.

The Guardia Nacional, once known only for overthrowing governments and catching Communists has launched a civic action program of rural medical care and road and bridge building which has won admiration from sponsors in the U.S. military.
